The Students' Ball.

Only three weeks more remain before the Ball at the New Willard, so it behooves every student to advertise it as widely as possible wherever it is not known. It is the duty of every one interested in the University to be personally concerned in the success of the Ball, for it is strictly for the good and benefit of the University, and consequently will benefit every student in the University, and especially those who expect to receive degrees from it, for in proportion as the reputation of the University grows and spreads, so will the value of a degree from it grow in value; therefore, from a selfish, even if from no other standpoint, every student should enter heartily into the support of this as well as every other enterprise that has for its whole aim the good of the University. But of course the majority of students here will be controlled by a higher motive, just as those noble women, who are working so hard and unselfishly in this way for the benefit of the George Washington Hospital. They do not expect to reap any personal advantage from this large undertaking, which they carry through successfully each year, but are prompted by their unselfish nobility and a desire to aid a cause that has for its object the alleviating of human suffering.

Therefore, let each one make it a point to talk this Ball everywhere, and get all interested in it. Let them understand that it will be second to no social affair that is given in the city by anybody, that women of the highest social standing are back of it, insuring that nothing will be omitted to make it a complete success.

Reception by Mrs. Ackert.

Mrs. Annie L. Ackert, president of the Board of Lady Managers of The George Washington Hospital, received in a most delightful manner, the professors of the University and their wives, representatives of all the classes, and others interested in the Students' Ball, at her home last Monday evening. The assembled guests resolved themselves informally into a body to discuss ways and means for the success of the Ball, and Mrs. Ackert, presiding gracefully, called on various ones to speak in the interest of the Ball. Talks were made by President Needham, Deans Vance and Hodgkins and Phillips, Professors Ash, Veditz, Carroll, and others of the faculty; for the students, words were said by Mead Moore, Fair, R. I. Moore, and Field, who frankly confessed, "I am a freshman," all giving assurance that everything would be done to get out a large per cent of the students from their respective classes.

After this the guests were invited into the dining room, where tempting things were served by the young ladies who are visiting Mrs. Ackert, Misses Schneider, Colwell, Raymond and Allen, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Needham. That Mrs. Ackert was wisely selected to be the President of the Board is very evident, and it is gratifying to see the number of influential women, unconnected with the University, whose interest she has enlisted in the Ball. With such a capable leader, the affair will undoubtedly surpass all other balls.

Coach Cogan has arrived at Cornell. Seventy-seven men reported for the baseball team.

A Look-Ahead at the Baseball Situation.

In less than two months now, the first call will be issued for baseball candidates, and from present indications the season of 1907 will inaugurate a new era in America's greatest game at George Washington.

In previous years we have had good material, we've had good schedules but for some reason the teams have not succeeded in winning consistently or even in playing good baseball consistently. This season, however, under the leadership of Titus, who pitched the team to victory last year against Virginia, one of the very few victories on the diamond by any team over the U. of Va., by the way, it is confidently expected that all such difficulties will be obviated, and that a winning aggregation will be turned out.

Of last year's team the following can be counted on: Weber, Campbell, Carr, Titus, Bradley, Senior, and Thomas, one or two of the others are doubtful. With this nucleus, there should be no trouble in developing a strong outfit of ball tossers.

As for a schedule, Manager Willis is now putting through the most pretentious list of games ever boosted by the University. Games with Princeton, Cornell, Syracuse, Virginia, North Carolina, Brown, Harvard, Fordham and other strong teams are either being negotiated or have already been secured. A Southern trip lasting for over a week on which games will be played with North Carolina A. & M., Guilford College, Trinity College, and Washington and Lee has been definitely arranged. The completed schedule will be published in THE HATCHET before the first of next month, as one or two games remain to be definitely settled upon.

ed in THE HATCHET before the first of next month, as one or two games remain to be definitely settled upon.

The Dramatic Club.

The performance of the Dramatic Club which was given last Thursday evening, January 10th, was attended by a large and enthusiastic audience. In the "Queen's Messenger" the acting of Miss McLeod was a most successful rendering of a role which gave great opportunities for artistic expression. In the "Cricket on the Hearth," all parts were very well taken, Miss Bethune and Mr. Godwin playing especially well. Mr. Block was seen at his best in his two difficult parts. Altogether, the Dramatic Club again showed itself to be an institution worthy of the hearty support of the entire University.

Columbian Debating Society.

At its regular meeting last Friday night, the Columbian Debating Society discussed the matter of a United States tax on inheritances, the affirmative side upheld by Hindman and Moore, advocating its institution, was awarded the victory by the judges, winning first and second honors respectively. The negative was supported by Sullivan, Carrington, and Gammon.

At the next meeting of the Society, February 1, the election of officers for the next semester will be held, and the team to meet the Needham in the next debate will be chosen from the first and second honor men selected up to date.

The new alumni athletic arena, in course of construction at Cornell, is to be 800 feet long by 447 feet wide and will cost $15,000.

Medical.

The George Washington University Medical Society held its ninth regular meeting in the Medical building January 19, 1907. A number of interesting papers were read and discussed. Among them was a biographical sketch of Dr. Jesse Ewell, the first graduate of the medical school, and an interesting talk by Dr. W. H. Dobson—"Ten Years' Experience as an American Surgeon in China."

Dr. H. T. A. Lemon reported, with presentation of patients, two cases of fracture about the elbow joint and Dr. A. R. Shands presented a patient with fracture of the elbow joint with exhibition of skiagraphs.

Dr. Hooe presented a case of Tubercular Peritonitis and after a lively discussion the program was concluded with an enjoyable smoker.

Dr. Macatee quizzed the Junior Class on smallpox last Saturday at 5.40. Judging from the answers given to his questions, the boys are pretty well up on this disease.

At the meeting of the Medical Society of the District of Columbia, held on January 7, 1907, Dr. D. K. Shute, was elected President and Drs. John B. Nichols and W. K. Butler, Vice-Presidents. Dr. H. C. Macatee was re-elected Secretary. All of these officers are Alumni of the G. W. U., and are dear to the hearts of the medical students, having been in such intimate association with them as their instructors.

Dr. Chas. W. Franzoni (Class of 1869), was re-elected Treasurer. He was elected Treasurer of the Medical Society 33 years ago and has been continuously re-elected since then. None of them had any opposition whatever in the election.

This speaks well for the popularity of George Washington graduates among the medical profession of the District, and as this is the largest Medical Society in the city, election to an office therein may be considered a special recognition of one's professional standing.

The mid-winter schedule of examinations have been announced as follows:

- Jan. 25—Histology;
- " 28—Physiology;
- " 28—Therapeutics;
- " 28—Obstetrics;
- " 29—Medical Jurisprudence;

- Jan. 30—Chemistry;
- " 30—Pathology, Bacteriology, and Chemical Microscopy;
- Feb. 1—Laryngology;
- Jan. 30—Practice;
- " 31—Surgery;
- " 25—Gynecology.

Remarks by a Junior.

In acute general infections an essential external condition for survival and recovery is pure air. Gas burning in the sick room vitiates the air; likewise, gassing law students quickly impoverish and poison it.

Individuals burdened with false modesty, or lacking in acuteness of the moral sense do not make good physicians.

When you call on your patients or they call on you, don't forget to increase the transverse diameter of your physiognomy; the perpendicular diameter, never.

A Chemical Disaster.

A German chemist, called Knoring, From a bottle gently pouring Little drops of brilliant sheen, Drops of nitroglycerin. Bunsen Burner standing by, Did not catch poor Knoring's eye; A flash, a roar, an awful crash, It shatters the window pane and sash.

From the cracks within the flooring They extract what's left of Knoring.

Fraternity Notes.

Miss Edna McKnew, a member of the active chapter of Pi Beta Phi in 1905, is expected to return soon from Europe, where she has been traveling for the past year.

On Saturday evening, January 19th, the members of the Columbia Alpha Chapter of Pi Beta Phi were entertained at a beautiful dance given in their honor by the members of the Gamma Eta Chapter of Delta Tau Delta at their house, 1516 K St. The house was decorated in wine red and silver blue, the Pi Phi colors, and with college pennants and posters. At the end of the intermission the men gathered around the piano and made the echos ring with good old "Delt" songs and yells. At midnight the orchestra played "Goodnight Ladies," the dance ended, and everyone declared it to have been a most delightful affair. The guests present were Mrs. Hemmick and Mrs. Vance and the Misses McCoy, Young, Barber, McIlhenny, Taylor, Cochran, Birch, Bethune, White, Evans, Farrington, Pearce, R. Cochran and Denham.

EXCHANGES.

The Black Diamond Palace, built of carved blocks and columns of different kinds of Virginia coal, will be a unique feature of the Jamestown Exposition.

The Daily Maroon, of Chicago University says: "By the action of the final conference Saturday, some of the best athletes in the West are barred from completing their four years of intercollegiate competition, and simultaneously Chicago's hopes of an eastern game are dampened. The rulings of the Conference have practically shot the 'Varsity basketball squad to pieces."

An article by Professor Tombo, Jr., Registrar of Columbia University, says in part:

"Comparing the figures for 1906 with those of 1905, it will be seen that a number of institutions show a loss, which, in the case of California (minus 10.61 per cent) and Leland Stanford (minus 4.73 per cent), may be traced to external causes. The greatest gains have been made by Pennsylvania (14.69 per cent), New York University (12.74 per cent), and Indiana (10.02 per cent), while the attendance at Princeton, Yale and Minnesota remains stationary."

At a mass meeting of undergraduates of the Law School at Cornell, held Monday, the honor system recommended by the honor system committee was adopted.

Enosinian.

Amid the clash and roar of contending political factions and the thunder of the President's gavel, the last meeting of the Enosinian Society was held on Friday. The debate was on the subject: "Resolved, That the United States should subsidize its merchant marine." The affirmative was upheld by Miss Harnden and Mr. Schreiber, the negative by Miss Harrington and Mr. Thompson. The debate was well contested and the Judges, Messrs. Curl, Berry and Van Vleck, after a lengthy consultation, returned a decision in favor of the affirmative by a very close margin. Mr. Berry produced the usual humorous and interesting issue of the Bee and Miss Alden maintained the high literary and poetical excellence of the News. The criticism was given by Mr. Singleton and Mr. Seiler entertained the society by an extemporaneous speech on the subject "Why I was late." The proposal to appropriate ten dollars out of the treasury for the benefit of the Jamaica sufferers was defeated. The meeting closed with a strenuous parliamentary contest over the proposed amendments.

Engineering Department.

It is planned to give a course in Hydraulic Laboratory during the Second Term. This new feature is anxiously awaited by the Hydraulic Class. The Armington-Simms engine has at last been placed in position and is in good running order. The gas engine will be ready for tests.

Owing to the new rule whereby students are required to draw at certain specified hours, the industry displayed by certain erstwhile loafers is remarkable.

The advent of Mr. Willard in the Mechanical Engineering Department has greatly strengthened that branch. He makes his courses interesting as well as instructive and with the expected added facilities, the department will soon be up to the standard set by the best Engineering Colleges in the country.

Mr. Norman Underwood, formerly Assistant in Chemistry in this University, has been appointed chief of the Ink-making Division of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Mr. Underwood and Mr. M. S. Hopkins, who graduated here in Chemistry in 1898, have met with marked success in putting the manufacture of printing inks on a sound scientific basis.

From Cincinnati.

"The Law School of Ohio State University has mailed its acceptance of the articles of agreement for a debate to be had with the Cincinnati Law School. The agreement provides that the debate shall be held in Cincinnati on or about the 15th of March, 1907. Cincinnati submitted the question, 'Resolved, that it should be the policy of the United States ultimately to annex Cuba.' Ohio State, by the last mail, gave notice of its choice of the affirmative side of the question. Each school is entitled to three regular debaters and one alternate. The preliminary contest for the choice of the speakers to represent Cincinnati will be held February 15, 1907. The judges will be prominent citizens of Cincinnati who are not members of the faculty."

"The debate against George Washington University, which is to occur on March 1st, will be of great concern to those who are interested in public speaking at the University of Cincinnati. Last year our team went to Washington, and, though they made a splendid debate, the decision went against them. This year it is of particular importance that U. C. should defeat the Washington team, not only because it has lost to Washington once, but also for the sake of the reputation of the University at home.

"The final trial of candidates will be held next Thursday night, when a contest even more spirited than that of a week ago is anticipated. And then the real work will have just begun."—From University of Cincinnati News.

Y. W. C. A.

The work of organizing a chapter of the Y. W. C. A. at Geo. Washington is advancing rapidly. On Friday, January 11th, a meeting of the women students of the College was held in the Girls' Reception Room. A nominating committee, consisting of Miss Scott, Miss MacMullen, Miss Swartwout, Miss Seebree, and Miss Allen, was appointed. The next meeting was held Thursday afternoon, Jan. 17. Miss Brown, the representative of the Washington Chapter of the Y. W. C. A., spoke to the girls and proposed that the making of the slate of officers be deferred until the constitution of the association had been read by the nominating committee. After Miss Ellis had been elected chairman of the meeting, it was voted that Miss Brown's suggestion be followed. The next meeting, at which the nominating committee will report on their reading of the constitution, is set for Tuesday, January 22d. All women students who are interested in furthering the work of the Association are urged to take an active part in its installation at George Washington.

The Michigan Daily says: "The western conference in session at Chicago Saturday dealt Michigan a terrible blow. Startling results are now expected. If anything like the old Michigan spirit prevails among the students, a mass-meeting will in all probability be called next week to petition the University senate to withdraw from the conference. This last merciless attack is generally regarded on the campus as the straw that will break the camel's back."

Debate With North Carolina.

A debate has been definitely arranged with the University of North Carolina, to take place in Washington about the middle of April. The question is, "Resolved, That the ownership and operation of inter-state railways by the National Government would subserve the best interests of the people of the United States."

The first trials to select the team to represent the University will be held about February 9, the finals being a week later. More definite information will be posted later.

Efforts were made to arrange debates with Georgetown and the University of Virginia. Georgetown replied that their debating interests were in such a formative state this year that they would not indulge in any intercollegiate debates—wise Georgetown! Virginia replied that they were unable to handle more than two debates this year.

Note: Virginia has since this arranged a third debate—this cold wave must have struck Virginia a long time before it reached here, perceptibly affecting the lower extremities of some of the inhabitants of said state.

Tarheel Club.

The first meeting of the Tarheel Club for the present scholastic year was held in Lecture Hall, No. 2, of the Medical Building, January 19th.

The following officers were elected: President, W. A. Boyd, Med., '07; Vice-President, C. S. Lawrence, Med., '08; Secretary, R. C. Willis, Law, '08; Treasurer, H. Clay Willis, Med., '08.

Among those present were: W. A. Boyd, H. Clay Willis, E. W. Ross, J. J. Rives, Dr. Cuthbertson and R. C. Willis.

The next meeting of the Club will be held Saturday, February 2d at 7.15 p. m. It is requested that all North Carolina students registered in the University be present at that time, as important business is to be transacted.

Yale, Harvard, Cornell, Princeton, Pennsylvania and Columbia will be represented in the intercollegiate indoor relay championships at the grand indoor meet of Columbia University to be held in Madison Square Garden on Friday evening, January 25. Gustavus T. Kirby, graduate director of athletics, and Ernest Stauffen, Jr., who, with Manager Lage and Capt. John W. Brodix, are managing the games, have sent a special invitation to the Michigan University Athletic Association to send a team for the four-mile intercollegiate indoor championship.

Southern Relief Ball.

There will be balls galore at the New Willard during the early days of February. In addition to the Students' Ball on February 8th, there will be the Southern Relief Ball on the 5th, which also has for its object a most worthy cause. It is to be hoped that both affairs will be largely attended by students of the University, for causes that are so much alike and are managed by such noble women deserve all support and encouragement. There is no doubt that those who go to the first ball will have such a good time that they will go also to the other one on the eighth. Miss Heth is at the head of the Relief Ball, and Mrs. Rosalie Bockock is Chairman of the Ball Committee, and many other prominent Southern women in Washington are identified with this object.

Y. M. C. A. Chapel.

The second Y. M. C. A. Chapel was held last Friday in West Hall. Dr. Carroll presided and gave an interesting address. All the men in the University are urged to support this chapel, which is intended to foster the right college spirit of fellowship among the men.

The University of Pennsylvania is planning to send a track team to the London-Paris Exposition, in England in 1908. All the smaller colleges in England, and the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge are entered, and the games will be an international competition.

William C. Cole, formerly head coach of the University of Virginia football team, has accepted the position of head coach at Nebraska University.

Glenn S. Warner, for several years coach of the Cornell baseball and football teams, has accepted the position of head coach of the Carlisle Indian School.

Phi Sigma Kappa has established a chapter at the University of Virginia. Delegates from nearby chapters, including George Washington, were present at the installation ceremonies which were held recently.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Blanche Bates in "The Girl of the Golden West."

Another Belasco triumph, Blanche Bates in "The Girl of the Golden West," will be the offering next week at the Belasco Theater. The engagement of this star and play has been looked forward to with interest ever since the play opened the Belasco Theater season in this city a year ago last October. Miss Bates and "The Girl of the Golden West" have held the rapt attention of New York audiences for the past two seasons at Mr. Belasco's home theater.

Kyrle Bellew in "The Marriage of Reason."

It is unusual to find a British playwright holding a brief for the American girl, but that is what J. Hartley Manners is said to do in his new play, "The Marriage of Reason," in which Klaw & Erlanger will present Kyrle Bellew at the Columbia Theater next week. International marriage is the theme, and a very red-blooded as well as blue-blooded dramatic human document is the result. Mr. Bellew has found a vehicle in which his genius for the elegancies of life and things thoroughbred finds full expression. He is said to consider that the role of the debonair but bankrupt earl, who trades his title with an American girl for her hand and money and then comes to worship and adore her, gives him the best opportunity of his career for distinguished playing.

Robert Edeson in "Strongheart."

"Strongheart," the now famous comedy drama, which comes to the New National for a return engagement next week, with Robert Edeson in the title role, will probably prove the real dramatic treat of the season, as the play is noteworthy in every way. "Strongheart" tells the story of an educated, full-blooded Indian, who has been sent by his tribe to Columbia University in New York for an education which will help him in future years to better the condition of his race, as he is himself one day to become their chief.

"The New Coachman."

Chase's polite vaudeville bill next week will be varied and diverting, as it will present Louis Simon, Grace Gardner, and company in "The New Coachman;" the great Brothers Boller, direct from Europe; Jack Norworth, "The College Boy" comedian; McCrea and Poole, Lillian Tyce, Raffayette, Hathaway and Siegel, and the motion pictures of "Aladdin."

"Under Southern Skies."

The attraction announced for the Majestic Theater next week is the ever-popular "Under Southern Skies," whose lasting success promises to equal the popularity of its prototypes of distinct phases of American life such as "Way Down East" and "The Old Homestead."

"NAUGHTY SEVEN."

Listen, ye mortals, and ye shall hear,
Of feats ne'er 'complished by Paul Revere;
Nor doth Caesar's Transalpine Gaul,
Transcend that of those I would you tell.

Canto I.

It was in the year of Our Lord, 1905,
That "Naughty Seven Law" first came;
From chilly north, and sunny south;
From California, and from Maine.

And "Georgie" dear, did open wide,
His arms to receive, these men of might name.

The path of learning is not paved with ease;
Her ways are rough and hard—
First year, came the learned host, the learned in the law;
To show these infant minds, things they ne'er before had saw.

Judge Peelle did the mysteries of Agency and Bailments unveil;
Lorenzen did on Commercial Paper rave;
While our dear Hannis T. did tell:
How Norman superstructure did Saxon substructure save.

Vance did spout on Elementary Law;
And Blair did teach us how our Domestic Relations to regulate;
While Judge Harlan gave us the Constitution without dissent,
And Torts; and Personal Property anent.

Vance likewise told us the hidden secrets of contracts;
While Earnest told us how we Might know that in "arson there must be some burning,"
But not in robbery.

Pardon, sirs, I did near to forget,
To tell of H. Saint George;
Who did on Constitutional Law Cases, and deer hunts,
And Virginia powder laws, makes us disgorge.

Canto II.

The second year opened "brite and fare";
"Naughty Seven" had naught a care.
Then did Vance the mighty shade of Blackstone rise;
And tell of fee simple and fee tail;
And Johnson did relate in words soporific, Common Law Pleading,
As a plain unvarnished tale.

Judge Peter gave us the "lore" and the Evidence;
While Scott smiled on us with Equity Jurisprudence.
Corporation Law was Lorenzon's theme;
But Maury on Insurance was a dream of bliss serene—
Of Carter versus Boehm, and when is concealment not concealment,

How we took Contracts with "Naughty Eight";
And how our dear Clephane did the subtleties of Equity Pleading relate—
And then we had Partnership, direct from Court of Claims,
And Mehan versus Valentine, and all about firm names.

Canto III.

Third year opened more glorious,
Than any year before us:
With measured tread and swelling head, we the mighty Moot Court approached;
To rely on wisdom, knowledge and the law, our own;
To be by no professor coached.

There sat in ermine upon the mighty bench,
Clephane, and Earnest, and Peter;
Learned in the law, with watchful eye, with brain alert;
O beware! Thou youthful pleader!

O the Oratory! O the gesticulation!
With "I repeat, sir" and "as your honor knows";
Did Christian and Ballard, and Moore and Stadden and Giles,
Lay down the law, the facts, with mighty blows;
And those other legal lights, ablaze;
Till judge and jury stood amazed!

Canto IV.

My tale is growing long and I must close;
Time forbids that I tell of the metaphysics of Bankruptcy by Brandenburg; of Advanced Procedure by Clephane and other dreams—I must finish this tale.

Watch, I say. Watch, when "Naughty Seven" graduates:
With sheepskin certifying that,
There is naught in the law, that "Naughty Seven" hath not down "pat."

Rome under Augustus; Egypt under Cleopatra; England under Elizabeth; Athens under Pericles;
Hath not known such days as these:

The "greatest of the great," when the world's work is done:
Will be "Naughty Seven" of George Washington.

(From George Washington, whose ghost can not sleep because of the noise made by George Washington University on the "boom.")

Proposed Rules.

A set of proposed rulings as regards eligibility of students desiring to compete in athletics, and other matters of a somewhat similar nature, are now being passed on by the various and sundry councils of the University. If they are finally favorably considered by the Board of Trustees, a sum of money will be appropriated to carry out the parts relating to personal hygiene, and an assistant professor will be appointed to take charge of the matter. There was some hope aroused among the students that a gymnasium might be evolved in the transaction, but there seems to be little prospect of this.

The rules regarding eligibility require a student to be in good class standing, taking a course of at least ten hours per week and to remain in school a greater part of the year.

These, however, as stated above are merely tentative, and have to pass through considerable routine before becoming effective.

By the way, what's the matter with petitioning Andrew Carnegie for a gymnasium? There's very little doubt that if he considered the project a worthy one, and it undoubtedly is, and were allowed to call it after himself, the matter could be fixed up very smoothly and agreeably to all concerned.

A dual track meet between Syracuse and Carlisle will be held in Elmira about the middle of May.

University Congress.

The University Congress held its regular weekly session Saturday evening. The members immediately went into a discussion of the resolution concerning the superiority of a treaty provision over a state law, with special reference to laws concerning public schools.

The result of the discussion plainly showed the extreme importance and difficulty of the subject.

Mr. Bullock of Virginia gave voice to his sentiments regarding the Japanese in California and counseled resistance.

After ten minutes or more of amendments, points of order, appeals and other parliamentary technicalities, the resolution was laid on the table for future action. At the next meeting of the Congress on next Saturday night a bill concerning trusts and monopolies will in all probability be called up.

All-Choice All-America.

Edward R. Bushnell, writing in The Illustrated Outdoor News, has selected an All-America team by votes from the best known coaches, sporting writers, and officials. Counting the selection of each man as a vote the following composite All-American eastern team is the result. The number of votes received by each player, out of a possible 16, is given:

Forbes, Yale, left end, 14; Cooney, Princeton, left tackle, 7; Thompson, Cornell, left guard, 13; Hockenberger, Yale, center, 6; Burr, Harvard, right guard, 9; Bigelow, Yale, right tackle, 8; Wister, Princeton, right end, 7; Dillon, Princeton, quarterback, 7; Knox, Yale, left halfback, 7; Hubbard, Amherst, right halfback, 7; Hollenback, Pennsylvania, fullback, 5.

The following was selected as a composite All-Western eleven in the same manner:

Marshall, Minnesota, left end; Curtis, Michigan, left tackle, Case, Minnesota, left guard; Safford, Minnesota, center; Van Hook, Illinois, right guard; Parry, Chicago, right tackle; Walker, Chicago, right end; Eckersall, Chicago, quarterback; Steffen, Chicago, halfback; Clark, Indiana, halfback; Garrels, Michigan, fullback.

The Board of Governors of the Jamestown Exposition have invited ten prominent Massachusetts citizens to act as members of a "Board of a Hundred Advisers," which will have a general supervision of the exposition. The appointees also will supervise the exhibit from the Commonwealth. The men invited to serve from Massachusetts are: Charles W. Eliot, president of Harvard University; Carroll D. Wright, president of Clark College; Rev. Edward Everett Hale, chaplain of the United States Senate; Edwin D. Mead, Moorefield Story, F. A. Whitney, Joseph Lee, and Lucius Tuttle, of Boston; Samuel Bowles, of Springfield, and Wm. F. Draper, of Hopedale.

Nearly all of them have accepted the invitation of the Board of Governors.

Coach Warner, late of the Cornell football team, and this year coach of the Indians, declared some time ago that he was in favor of having twelve men comprise the football team.

"Each time I had a play figured out," said Warner, "it failed to please me, for it seemed that there was always one player missing."
